

Let's Invest in San Joaquin County

Yes on 15

SCHOOLS & COMMUNITIES FIRST

Prop 15 will reclaim $12 billion every year for California schools, community colleges, and essential local services like housing and healthcare – and every county will benefit. COVID-19 has shown how decades of disinvestment in public health and social services has deepened inequities and worsened the crisis. Let's reclaim these resources, and provide the support our local communities need to thrive.

In San Joaquin County alone we can restore $155 million each year, with $108 million for public education and $46 million for community services. Imagine all we can invest in community services each year:

HOUSING:

Build 25 units of affordable housing, house 1,000 more seasonal migrant workers, and provide COVID-19 emergency rental assistance to 600 more people.

MENTAL HEALTH:

Hire 25 more mental health or substance abuse counselors and serve 500 more people through mobile crisis response teams.

HOMELESSNESS:

Provide permanent supportive housing to 300 more people.

HEALTHCARE:

Cover the costs for 2,500 more people to receive healthcare at community clinics.

WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT:

Provide free childcare for 1,000 COVID-essential workers—including workers in grocery stores, healthcare, agriculture, and other sectors. Cover the cost of 2,000 more people to participate in job apprenticeship programs.

YES on PROP 15!

Prop 15 was put on the ballot by a record-breaking 1.7 million Californians who believe that wealthy corporations need to pay their fair share.

Human Impact Partners developed this infographic in collaboration with Schools and Communities First. Visit humanimpact.org for details on methodology and data sources.

yes15.org